Sample end-of-year exam paper

Time: 3 hours

Total: 150 marks

Instructions:

- 1 This question paper consists of FOUR questions.
- 2 Questions 1 and 2 are essay questions.
- 3 Questions 3 and 4 are source-based questions.
- 4 Each question is worth 50 marks.
- 5 You must answer any THREE questions.

SECTION A: ESSAY QUESTIONS

The following questions should be answered in the form of an essay and should be about 600–800 words.

QUESTION 1: CAPITALISM IN THE USA 1900–1940

Were the policies of the New Deal revolutionary or did they merely attempt to preserve American capitalism and democracy? [50 marks]

QUESTION 2: APARTHEID SOUTH AFRICA 1940s–1960s

‘The National Party government enforced its policy of apartheid so effectively, that there was no opportunity for resistance.’

Examine resistance in South Africa in the 1950s to determine whether this statement is accurate or not. [50 marks]

SECTION B: SOURCE-BASED QUESTIONS

Refer to the sources in the Addendum to answer the questions in Section B.

QUESTION 3: AUSTRALIA AND THE INDIGENOUS AUSTRALIANS

What were Scientific Racism, Social Darwinism and Eugenics, and how did they impact on the ‘Stolen Generation’ in Australia?

- 3.1 Write definitions for the following terms in the context of the history you have studied.
 - (a) Genocide

- (b) 'racial suicide'
 (c) Human Genome Project 3 x 2 = (6)

Read Sources 3A, 3B and 3C:

- 3.2 Use all three sources to write short paragraphs (about 80 words each) on the following topics.
- (a) How well were the children treated? (5)
 - (b) What does 'assimilation' mean and what methods were used to assimilate these Aboriginal children? (Include comments on language, culture and religion.) (5)
 - (c) What were their experiences of race? (4)
 - (d) In what ways are the feelings and/or experiences shown in these three testimonies similar to, or different from each other? 2 + 3 = (5)
- 3.3 Using your own knowledge, what effect did separating these children from their language, their history and their culture have? 3 x 2 = (6)
- 3.4 To what extent can you trust these testimonies as accurate evidence about the effects of the government policies? (4)
- 3.5 Using your knowledge, explain why the government carried out these policies from 1910 to 1970? (3)
- 3.6 Using your knowledge, explain why this Commission of Enquiry into the 'Stolen Generation' was an important and necessary thing for the Australian government of the mid 1990s to do. (4)
- 3.7 Study the visuals on pages, xx, xx, xx and xx. Explain how they illustrate the theories of Social Darwinism, pseudo-scientific racism and eugenics. (Read the table below before you answer.) (8)

Your answer will be assessed according to this table, so use aim to show your it as a guideline in preparing your answer:

Level	Criteria	Mark out of 8
Level 3	The learner shows understanding of each concept and selects the relevant sources to illustrate his or her explanation effectively. He or she is articulate and insightful.	7–8
Level 2	The learner shows some understanding of the concepts but has not used the sources consistently to explain his or her argument. His or her language usage and expression is clear.	4–6
Level 1	The learner shows a limited or no understanding of the concepts and does not use the sources appropriately. Errors in expression undermine communication.	1–3

QUESTION 4: THE MIDDLE EAST

Why was there conflict between Israel and the Palestinians?

Study Source 4A

- 4.1 Use your own knowledge to explain why the United Nations decided to partition Palestine. (5)
- 4.2 For what four things does the writer of Source 4A blame the Arab states? (4)

Study Source 4B

- 4.3 According to this source, why was the establishment of the state of Israel “illegal”? (2 + 1 = 3)
- 4.4 Use your own knowledge to explain why the writers of Source 4B rejected the Balfour Declaration. (4)
- 4.5 Compare Sources 4A and 4B. In what ways do they contradict each other (2 + 2 = 4)

Study Source 4C

- 4.6 Explain what is happening in the first frame of the cartoon. (4)
- 4.7 To what does the cartoonist attribute the increase in size and strength of the figure representing Israel in the second frame? (2)
- 4.8 Explain to what the signposts in the second frame refer. (2)
- 4.9 Explain what is happening in the second frame of the cartoon by describing what is shown. (4)
- 4.10 Using all the information in the cartoon, explain what the cartoonist’s intention is. Refer to details in the cartoon in your answer. 3 x 2 = (6)

Study all three sources:

- 4.11 Give two reasons why these three sources collectively (taken together) are valuable to an historian studying this period? 2 + 2 = (4)
- 4.12 Using the information in all three sources explain why there was conflict between Israel and the Palestinians. (8)

[50 marks]

ADDENDUM: SOURCES FOR SECTION B

Sources for Question 3: What were Scientific Racism, Social Darwinism and Eugenics and how did they impact on the 'Stolen Generation' in Australia?

Sources 3A to 3C are extracts from Aboriginals who as children were removed from their families as part of the then government's assimilation campaign. They told their stories in 1995–1997 when the Australian government held a Commission of Enquiry into the experiences of the 'Stolen Generation'. The findings were published in a government commission report called Bringing them Home.

We were told that our mother was an alcoholic and that she was a prostitute and she didn't care about us. They used to warn us that when we got older we'd have to watch it because we'd turn into sluts and alcoholics, so we had to be very careful. They said if you were white you didn't have that dirtiness in you It was in our breed, in us to be like that.

I didn't know any Aboriginal people at all, none at all. I was placed in a white family and I was just – I was white. I never knew, I never accepted myself as being a black person until – I don't know if you ever really do accept yourself as being How can you be proud of being Aboriginal after all the humiliation and the anger and the hatred you have? It's unbelievable how much you can hold inside.

The year that I was taken away, my uncle wrote a letter to the Native Welfare and asked if I could be returned to him. The letter that went back from the Commissioner of Native Affairs said that I was light-skinned and shouldn't be allowed to mix with natives.

We were constantly told that we didn't have families and that we were white children. It wasn't until we went across the road to school that we were called the names of 'darkies' and 'niggers' and those sorts of names. So when we were at school we were niggers and when we were home we were white kids. The policy of the home was to take only the light-skinned children so that we could be assimilated and 'save us from natives'.

We were sent to school. We were given religious instruction seven days a week. We were all baptized, then confirmed in the Anglican faith. Usually the boys were sent out at an early age to work on farms; and the girls too, as domestics. So all of our training was consistent with the aim that we would become subservient to white people as domestics or farmhands.

▼ Source 3C An extract from Lance's testimony. "Koori" is the term aboriginals called themselves. It means "our people".

If I was in a stable Aboriginal family, I wouldn't have the problems I have now - identifying myself as Koori. For ages I despised my parents; how could they just dump me in this Home? I hated them for what they were - Koories. I therefore hated Koories. I hated myself because I was Koori.

At age eight I was adopted out to these white people. They had three children who were a lot older - in their thirties and forties. I get on with them well. They send me Christmas cards and birthday cards. It is good having people like that, but sometimes you know you are not really part of the family. You feel you should not really be there, [for example], 'Come along Lance we're having a family photo taken'. I have not told them how I feel. They have tried real hard to make me feel part of the family, but it just won't work.

Three years ago I started taking interest in Koori stuff. I decided at least to learn the culture. But it is very frustrating. I am asked about a Koori word and I don't know. You feel you should know and are ashamed for yourself. I feel Koori, but not a real Koori in the ways of my people.

Sources for Question 4: Why was there conflict between Israel and the Palestinians?

▼ Source 4A: A Zionist perspective by Dan Cohn-Sherbok, from Cohn-Sherbok, Dan, and El-Alami, Dawoud, The Palestine-Israeli Conflict, Oneworld, Oxford UK, 2002.

The Palestinians who fled from their homes during this conflict would have been spared this tragedy if their fellow Arabs had accepted the authority of the United Nations. And so they should have. What point is there to being part of a democratic body - the United Nations - if its decisions are accepted only if they agree with one's own views? By rejecting the majority decision to partition Palestine, the Arab nations had placed themselves above the fundamental democratic process on which the United Nations is based. Since the creation of Israel over fifty years ago, Arab nations have repeatedly denied Israel's right to exist. Hatred and bloodshed have been the result of this stubbornness. While Jews have sought peace with their neighbours, the Arabs have waged war.

▼ Source 4B: An extract from the Palestinian National Covenant, adopted by the Palestine Liberation Organisation, July 1968. (from http://www.jewishvirtuallibrary.org/jsource/Peace/PLO_Covenant.html)

Article 19: The partition of Palestine in 1947 and the establishment of the state of Israel are entirely illegal, regardless of the passage of time, because they were contrary to the will of the Palestinian people and to their natural right in their homeland, and inconsistent with the principles embodied in the Charter of the United Nations, particularly the right to self-determination.

Article 20: The Balfour Declaration, the Mandate for Palestine, and everything that has been based upon them, are deemed null and void [illegal; not valid]. Claims of historical or religious ties of Jews with Palestine are not in agreement with the facts of history Judaism [the Jewish religion] being a religion, is not an independent nationality. Nor do Jews constitute a single nation with an identity of its own; they are citizens of the states to which they belong.

Article 22: Zionism is a political movement associated with international imperialism It is racist and fanatic in its nature, aggressive, expansionist, and colonial in its aims, and fascist in its methods. Israel is the instrument of the Zionist movement Israel is a constant source of threat to peace in the Middle East and the whole world.
